Kohler's decorated history as a premier golf destination originally began with a single 18-hole championship course. This decorated course being named Blackwolf Run. During its 35 years of excellence, the original championship course has played host to two US Woman's Opens, the first being in 1998 and the second in 2012.

Despite the brilliance of the original 18, Blackwolf Run's next adventure aimed toward establishing Kohler golf as a true golfer's paradise. In 1989, an additional 9 holes were created. Soon followed in 1990 by the final nine holes which was meant to split the original routing into the two truly unique courses we feature today, the Meadow Valleys and River courses. The original layout, consisting of holes from both the River and Meadow Valleys, can still be played during the final days of each golf season.

The most recent chapter in Blackwolf's golf history came in 2021. Paying homage to Kohler Company's near 150-year history of design excellence, a third course was opened. The Baths features a 10-hole, par 3 course that is built on 27 acres. Including a two-acre putting course and beverage service, the Baths is the perfect space to create memories for golfers of all skill levels.
